REBUKED BY KNOX.

Tells Anti-Trust Leaguers It Is Not His Place to Take Sides In

PROPOSED PRIVATE LITIGATION.

Slaps at Them For Giving Letter to Press—Anyway, He Has Not Information They Request—Reply Polite—Chairman Martin Answers.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Attorney General Knox sent the following letter to the joint committee of the American Anti-Trust League and District Assembly 66, Knights of Labor, in reply to one from the committee requesting information from Mr. Knox regarding the United States Steel corporation:

Contents of Knox's Letter.

Washington, Aug 20.

Mr. H. B. Martin, Chairman Joint Committee of American Anti-Trust League, etc.

Sir—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of Aug 19, 1901, in which you request me to obtain for you certain information with reference to certain alleged agreement or agreements made between the constituent companies and individuals who organized the United States Steel corporation. You ask me to afford you all the information that "I may possess or can obtain." And you specifically refer to an alleged "trust or syndicate agreement" which you state the president of the United States Steel corporation, Mr C. M. Schwab, "refused to furnish to the United States industrial commission, when on the witness stand before that body," and you further state that your request for information is to be understood as covering any "other contracts of a similar kind with which you are acquainted or which you can obtain for us."

You also state that your request for information is "founded upon information and belief that at the time this contract, or these contracts, was or were made, that I was "in some way officially connected with the Carnegie company," and you, therefore, assume that the information which you request must be in my "possession or conveniently at hand." I am, therefore, requested to give you the substance, or, if possible, copy thereof.

Primarily, permit me to say that your request is founded upon an erroneous assumption. I do not know who the individuals are who organized the United States Steel corporation. If they are the persons usually named in the newspapers as the promoters of that organization, with the single exception of Mr. C. M Schwab, I do not know, never saw, and was never in any way connected with any of them. I never heard of any agreement between them, and the constituent members of the steel corporation.

Neither at the time of the formation of the United States Steel corporation, nor at any time, was I officially connected with the Carnegie Steel company. I was formerly one of its legal advisers in the conduct of its manufacturing business, but was never consulted with reference to the formation of the United States Steel company nor in relation to the sale of that company of the shares of stock held by the stockholders of the Carnegie company.

I have never seen the papers or agreements to which you refer, nor have I been informed of their contents I have no knowledge whatever of their existence, terms or scope. I am thus specific, as I desire to cover both the spirit and the letter of your inquiry.

Has No Access to Agreement.

I may say, moreover, that I have no access to the agreement or papers to which you refer. I know nothing of the one to which you specially refer, and do not even know that such an agreement is in existence. The information which you request, therefore, is not in my possession or "conveniently at hand," as you assume, and it is, therefore, impossible for me to comply with any of the requests set forth in your letter. All this information you could at any time have acquired through the usual method of direct personal inquiry, thereby avoiding the doubtful propriety of addressing me through the medium of an open letter, which you concurrently delivered to the press.

Whether, if such papers were accessible to me, it would be my duty to obtain them and furnish them for use in legal proceedings to which you are a party, and the nature of which you do not explain, is a question which I do not care at this time to discuss.

If I may regard the letter as addressed to me officially I will say:

If this department is under obligations to furnish information to prospective litigants in undisclosed proceedings, its responsibilities and labors are necessarily greater than they have ever been imagined from the time of its formation. Indeed, as there are generally two parties to every controversy, it would be difficult to discharge such alleged duty to both parties in view of conflicting interests. This department was not called into being to furnish information to private litigants. Its duty and its object is to enforce the federal statutes as interpreted by the courts wherever there is probable cause for believing that they have been violated.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) P. C. KNOX,
Attorney General.

Reply by Chairman Martin.

In reply to Attorney General Knox, issued last night, Chairman Martin, of the joint Anti-Trust league and Knights of Labor committee, says:

"Does the attorney general desire to put himself in a position before the people of the United States of saying that if the papers containing the incrimnating evidence of the violations of the law of the United States, which he is sworn to enforce and punish violators of, were accessible to him, it is a question whether he would furnish them for use in legal proceedings, instituted by citizens for the purpose of punishing violators of the law? And yet the attorney general intimates to us that there is a question whether, if he possessed these incrimnating documents, he would use them himself or permit any one else to use them to secure the conviction of the great trust criminals, who are violating the federal statute against the organization of trusts, destroying freedom of competition in the business world and driving competitors into bankruptcy, wiping cities off the map, crushing labor organizations with an iron hand, and instituting a reign of terror in the inron and steel industry which threatens to involve the country in a civil war.

"We will give him an opportunity now to reassure the people as to his desire and intention to enforce the law against trusts. Will Attorney General Knox offer a reward for the production of the incrimnating evidence against the trusts for which we asked, and which he says he does not possess. Will he announce tomorrow that the department of justice of the United States will pay a substantial reward to any person or persons who will produce evidence that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person or corporation guilty of violating the federal statute against trusts?

"Let him do this and institute vigorous proceedings against trust lawbreakers, and the people will no longer have doubts as to his faithfulness to his oath of office. And he will no longer be the target for criticism, innuendo and invictive on the part of the press, because of the fact that while the trusts ride rough shod over the people, the atorney general, who is the sole officer under the federal law, vested with authority to prosecute them, refuses to take any action."

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Convenes at Harrisburg Today—J. O. Brown, of Pittsburg, to Be Temporary Chairman.

Harrisburg, Aug. 21.—The Republican state convention convenes here today. City Chairman Joseph O. Brown, of Pittsburg, will be temporary chairman. Senator William Flinn was offered the honor, but declined it. David H. Lane, of Philadelphia, will be permanent chairman.

The platform will commend the administrations of President McKinley and Governor Stone, endorse the official acts of United States Senators Quay and Penrose and commend the last legislature in so far as it redeemed party pledges.

General Frand Reeder, of Easton, will be re-elected chairman of the state executive committee. Neither Senators Quay and Penrose, both of whom are on vacation, will attend the convention.

Strikers Must Not Loiter.

Monessen, Aug. 21.—Lathe McMahon, who was arrested for trespassing near the steel hoop mill property, was fined $10 and costs by Burgess Rinehart. Burgess Rinehart yesterday handed President David Henderson, of the Amalgamated lodge, a copy of an ordinance which prohibits any crowd from loitering around the streets near corners and empowers the authorities to arrest all who assemble in groups. The burgess said he would enforce the law strictly and would tolerate no congregating of the strikers.

THE JAPS WERE VERY CORDIAL.

Admiral Rodgers Speaks of Their Kindness In a Report.

Washington, Aug. 21.—In a report of the unveiling of the statue commemorating the landing of Commodore Perry at Kurihama, Japan, Admiray Rodgers says in part:

On July 12 I was received in audience, together with Captains Mackenzie, Sperry, Commander Swift and my personal staff, by the emperor and by the empress. After the audience we were by diretion of the emperor shown through the palaces. This, I am informed, is an unusual honor, as is also the granting of an audience to a foreigner during the summer months. On the same day I also called on the princes of the royal family.

Shortly before 11 o'clock on July 14 the officers of the Japanese ships landed, followed by the American officers, and shortly afterward by a battalion and band of bluejackets from the Japanese fleet. About 700 invited guests landed from the chartered steamer Hakusi Maru. At the request of Baron Kaneko, the chairman of the committee, I pulled the line that held the covering of the monument, thus exposing it to view; the battalion then presented arms, the New York fired a national salute, with the Japanese flag at the fore, and the Hatsuse fired a similar salute with the American flag at the fore

The oldest American residents here say that there have never been before such expressions of sentiment and good will.

REQUEST FOR WITNESSES.

Hackett May Send Letter as to Interview to Howison.

Washington, Aug. 21.—The acting secretary of the navy, Mr. Hackett, had on his desk Tuesday the letter from Admiral Schley's counsel relative to a reported interview by Admiral Howison, one of the members of the court of inquiry. Beyond admitting that the letter had been received Mr. Hackett would not discuss it in any phase. It is the general expectation, however, that the letter will be forwarded to Admiral Howison, with a request for a reply. Captain Parker, one of Admiral Schley's counsel, held a brief conference with Mr. Hackett during the morning.

A formal request for a list of witnesses to be summoned by the judge advocate was made by Admiral Schley's counsel. The request will be complied with as soon as practicable.

GOMPERS HAD NOT RETURNED.

Supposed Tube Works Lodge Voted to Strike.

Washington, Aug. 21.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, has not yet returned from Pennsylvania, where he has been for several days, and the only information at the headquarters of the Federation concerning the strike of the Federation men at the Pennsylvania Tube works is contained in a telegram from Organizer Schwartz, saying the men were going to strike.

Under the organization of the American Federation of Labor the president has no power to order a lodge to strike. The lodge itself must take a vote on the question, and it is presumed that that has been done at the tube works.

BUT LITTLE CHANGE

Idle Foreigners Make Trouble in Pittsburg.

MEN PAID OFF AT BELLAIRE.

Canal Dover Men Excited Over Rumors of Importation of Non-Union Men—Wellsville's Mayor Appoints Thirty Non-Union Men as Deputy Policemen.

Pittsburg, Aug. 21.—A riot was narrowly averted in front of the Pennsylvania tube works in Second avenue last night. Foreign laborers, armed with clubs, who were rendered idle by the strike, made a demonstration in front of the mill entrance, menacing the mill officials and defying the police.

The Duquesne mill of the Carnegie Company may close down without the necessity of a strike, owing to the overstocking of tinplate bars.

United States Steel Corporation officials report gains in the number of non-union men in all of the plants now being operated.

Secretary Joseph Bishop, of the Ohio board of arbitration, has returned to Pittsburg, and visited the Amalgamated headquarters yesterday. Count Luxberg, of the German consulate in New York, visited Amalgamated headquarters for information regarding the steel strike.

The Pennsylvania and Continental Tube works are completely closed by the strike, the last turn of men refusing to return to work yesterday morning.

Canal Dover, Aug. 21.—Other than the strengthening of the guard at the sheet steel plant and the barring of windows in the large brick structure there is not the slightest indication that non-union men are to be imported here. The strikers' pickets were unusually watchful last night, it having been reported that a car load of strike breakers was to be brought in about daybreak. The strikers have entered complaint against a roll turner named Hackett and threaten to have him arrested if he attempts to again intimidate the pickets. It is claimed by a number of picket posts that Hackett made rather bold challenges, and said something about shooting if again held up and required to give an account of himself. Rush orders were given at the tinplate plant to complete the remaining stock on hand. When this is used up all machinery will be removed.

Bellaire, Aug. 21.—Yesterday was pay day at the Bellaire steel works and all the strikers were paid in full, getting the week's pay usually held back. The men were paid at the office instead of at the regular pay window, and were obliged to turn over their checks, which was taken as a notice of dismissal. The organization of the furnace men is progressing slowly, as an interpreter is required among the foreigners.

WELLSVILLE STRIKERS MAD.

Mayor Swears in Non-Union Men as Deputies.

Wellsville, O., Aug. 21.—The strikers are exasperated by the action of Mayor Dennis, who administered the oath which made thirty of the non-union men officers of the law and endowed them with police powers. This action was taken at the request of Manager Brookman, of the steel company's plant, and the men to be sworn in were chosen by him. They are all employes of the company and are sworn in by the mayor to protect themselves and the company's property. This action gives the non-unionists, who have been deputized, the right to carry firearms and to otherwise do things objectionable to the strikers. The strikers will resent the interference of the company and the authorities in case the slightest pretext is afforded.

SIX MEN DROWNED.

Another Horror in Cleveland Water Works Tunnel.

Cleveland, Aug. 21.—Six men were drowned last night as the result of an explosion of gas in the tunnel from water works crib No. 3. The tunnel is being constructed toward crib No. 2. The explosion was so heavy that the casings were crushed and a flood of water poured in. The men had no chance of escape, and were drowned like rats in a trap. The bodies have not yet been recovered, and some time will elapse before a searching party can enter the tunnel.

DROVE ALL NEGROES OUT.

Three Killed and all Homes are Burned.

Pierce City, Mo., Aug. 21.—For nearly fifteen hours, ending at noon yesterday, Pierce City has been in the hands of a mob of whites who drove nearly every negro from its precincts. In addition to the lynching of William Godley, accused of the murder of Miss Gazelle Wild, and the shooting to death of his grandfather, French Godley, the mob cremated Peter Hampton, an aged negro, in his home, set the torch to the houses of five blacks, and, with the aid of state militia rifles, stolen from the local company's arsenal, drove dozens of negroes from town. After noon the excitement died down, the mob gradually dispersing, more from lack of nergoes upon whom to wreak their hatred than from any other cause. Many of the negroes who fled from the city are hiding in the surrounding woods, while others have gone greater distances in seeking safety. Every negro has left the town except a few railway porters known to be respectable, but these must also leave. The citizens of Pierce City say that as the negroes have committed several crimes in the last ten years none shall live here in the future. The same feeling exists at Monnett, four miles east of Pierce City and the end of a St. Louis and San Francisco railroad passenger division.

A WOMAN AGENT.

Mrs. Hopley to Investigate the Labor Conditions.

Columbus, Aug. 21.—M. D. Ratchford, state labor commissioner, has appointed Mrs. James R. Hopley a special agent of the department to investigate the condition of women and children employed in Ohio factories. She will visit the factories in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo and Dayton. She went yesterday to Cincinnati, to remain at least two weeks. Mrs. Hopley is the president of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs and is well fitted for the work which she has consented to do. She will not only study the conditions under which women and children work in the factories, but will visit the employes in their homes. She expects also to study to sweatshop systems and to investigate the way in which the shop girls are treated by their employers. She will make a report to the labor commissioner about December 1.

WORK ON GOVERNMENT VESSELS

Greatly Delayed by the Strike at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—Work on many vessels for the army and navy is being delayed because of labor troubles in San Francisco. The Union Iron Works has contracted for six warships and two submarine torpedo boats. The most important of these is the battleship Ohio. She was launched a few months ago by President McKinley, and the moment she took the water work ceased on her. The monitor Wyoming was launched last September and is not yet completed. The torpedo boat destroyers Preble, Perry and Paul Jones also are at the Union Iron Works. The Perry and the Preble have given trial tests, and changes designed to give greater speed were ordered about the time the machinists struck. The transport Sherman has been at the Union Iron Works over six months.

JEFFRIES AND RUHLIN.

Articles are Signed for a Championship. Match.

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—James J. Jeffries and Gus Ruhlin, the pugilists, signed an agreement yesterday to fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. It was agreed that the match is to take place on some day in either November or December, before the club offering the largest purse. The pugilists expressed preference for either the San Francisco Athletic Club or the Twentieth Century Club. Bids for the fight will be received and opened in public. The articles of agreement call for a division of the gate receipts on a basis of 75 per cent to the winner and 25 per cent to the loser.

KILLED THE UMPIRE.

An Ex-Convict Objects to His Decisions.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 21.—Ora Jennings, the umpire of a base ball game at Farmersburg, had his skull fractured and will die. The blow was struck with bat by a player, Marcellus Forbes, who was incensed at a decision. Forbes is an ex-convict.

WASHINGTON NEWS

America's Trade With South Africa.

AFFECTED BY WAR AND PLAGUE

The Battleship Iowa Has Sailed for the Isthmus of Panama—Another Fighting Ship May Join the Fleet at That Point.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Consul General Stowe, at Cape Town, reports that the war and the plague have prevented customs officials from collecting the usual statistics, covering the trade of the Colonies for 1900, but the figures available show that this country still stands second among the nations exporting direct to South Africa, and, in addition, ships a large amonut of supplies via England. Trade in the Boer colonies languishes, the fields are bare, and practically no planting has been attempted. Owing to the plague there were at one time no fewer than 200 vessels in Cape Town harbor, with cargoes valued at nearly $25,000,000, unable to discharge their goods The plague appeared among the dock laborers, and the compulsory inoculation of all persons employed at the docks followed. All governmental supplies had to be discharged first and several American ships were obliged to remain for two and three months.

The navy department has informed the state department that the battleship Iowa sailed yesterday for the Isthmus of Panama. This was pleasing information to Secretary Hay, who was, it is asserted, amazed when he learned from newspaper dispatches from San Francisco that the Iowa would be detained for the purpose of making repairs. It is the general impression that the secretary would have been gratified to have learned that the Wisconsin had come into San Francisco or even into any of the northern ports, for then that splendid fighting vessel could have been put in condition for the service it is believed she will be called upon to perform, that of reinforcing the small squadron that is to assemble at Panama.

STORY OF THE LOOP.

Explanation Given by Man at Brooklyn's Wheel.

New York, Aug. 21.—Walter B. Adams, of Gloucester, Mass., a seaman who claims to have been stationed at the wheel of the Brooklyn in the battle of Santiago, is quoted as giving a new explanation of the loop made by Admiral Schley's flagship, according to a special from Bellows Falls, Vt. Adams says that when the Vizcaya was pointing her course, with the evident intention of ramming the Brooklyn, Commander Hodgkins, the navigating officer, issued the order to put the wheel hard down. This would have thrown the Brooklyn directly toward the Vizcaya. Adams says he understood the order but threw the wheel "hard up," causing the Brooklyn to swing away from the Spanish ship. Noticing his mistake instantly he eased the wheel down, and in getting the ship back to her course the loop was formed, which, Mr. Adams says, was not over half a mile in length.

OHIO SONS OF ST. GEORGE.

State Convention in Session at East Liverpool.

East Liverpool, Aug. 21—The Ohio district convention of the Sons of St. George opened in this city yesterday with about fifty delegates present. The most important business was the installation of new officers, who are as follows: Worthy past grand president, Andrew Lawton, Youngstown; worthy grand president, J. T. Leach, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; worthy grand vice president, S. W. Smith, Canton, O.; worthy grand secretary, Frederick Stork, Cleveland; worthy grand treasurer, E. E. Ashby, Cleveland; worthy grand messenger, R. Williams, East Liverpool, O.; worthy grand trustee, Thomas Kendall, Canton, O.

BURNED A NEGRO.

Awful Work of a Mob of Whites in Texas.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 21.—A dispatch received here last night from Whitesboro, Texas, says the negro, Alfred Wilder, charged with the murder of Mrs. Caldwell, the wife of a Grayson county farmer, at her home on Saturday last, was captured by a mob and burned at Nelson's ranch, two miles and a half east of Red Ranch.

TREASURE TROVE AT WOOSTER.

Large Sum of Coin Found in Old Building.

Wooster, Aug. 21.—A few days since, while James E. Elliott and an assistant were taking down an old chimney, they found a small cloth sack that was filled with money. All of the coin, which consisted of silver dollars and half dollars, five and ten dollar gold pieces, bore the date of 1860 and other dates prior to the war. There were also a number of bills. It is supposed that the money was hidden in the chimney over forty years ago. Elliott refuses to state how much money was found, but report has it that the total was $1,700. The house for years has been occupied by poor people, and old residents cannot recall the name of any person who ever lived in the house who could possibly have had so much money.

LOCKOUT AT BARBERTON.

Company May Employ Non-Union Workmen.

Akron, Aug. 21—Late Tuesday afternoon the situation in the Stirling Company's strike at Barberton had not changed. No meeting of the strikers has been held since the one of Monday evening, but the men are walking the streets watching the cars as they believe an attempt will be made to bring in other workmen. A few of the strikers and some of the other workmen who did not walk out Monday went to the factory to work Tuesday, but found the big gates locked. This confirms the report that the company is paying the men in their own coin by establishing a lockout. All the moulders, helpers and boilermakers are out, but some of the machinists are being allowed to work.

CANAL DOVER'S MILL.

Orders Have Been Received to Dismantle It.

Canal Dover, Aug. 21.—It has been officially announced that the local plant of the American Tinplate Company, which employs over three hundred men, would be removed. Superintendent Robert Harris said that instructions to dismantle the plant were received and actual work would be begun as soon as all the old stock was worked up. He would not say where the plant would be moved. The property has recently been improved to the extent of over $20,000.

FRANCE AND TURKEY.

Diplomatic Relations Have Been Severed.

Constantinople, Aug. 21. — The French ambassador has notified the sultan that all diplomatic relations between France and Turkey have ceased. This action was taken on the part of France because the sultan failed to keep the promise he personally made to the ambassador regarding the settlement of French claims.

SECRETARY HAY AT CANTON.

Two-Hour Conference With the President.

Canton, Aug. 21.—Secretary Hay arrived in the city from Washintgon today, and spent two hours in conference with the President concerning matters requiring the attention of the state department. The secretary, in answer to questions, said there was nothing of a serious nature under consideration.

AFTER MANY MONTHS.

R. Bader Returns to His Home in this City.

R. Bader, who left for Germany last summer, allured there by reports that a fortune from the estate of some deceased relative awaited him, returned to his home in the northern part of the city last night. Mr. Bader experienced some difficulty in getting what belonged to him, and although successful, he says there are many other things in the old country that he does not like. America he says is the only country for him and he will think seriously before he again ventures forth from its shores. Mr. Bader will resume his old position in the C., L. & W. yards on Thursday.

A SPASM OF REFORM.

THE REVIVAL THAT WAS SUGGESTED FOR THE TOWN OF JERICHO.

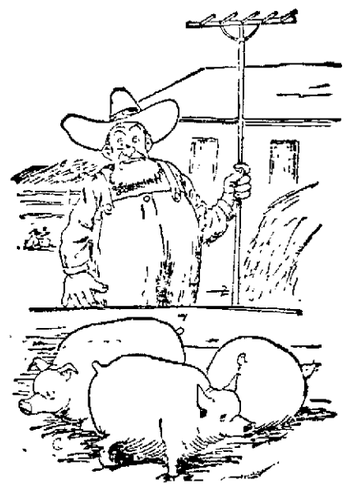
Pap Perkins, the Postmaster, Tells About the Enthusiasm With Which Abijah Holden's Idea Was Greeted and How Lish Billings Doused It With a Wet Blanket.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

It was Abijah Holden who first got the idea, and he sprung it on the post-office crowd one Saturday night in the most unexpected manner. He'd bin keepin powerful quiet fur a week or two, like a man who's left his jack-knife stickin in the barn door and is tryin to remember the fact, and this made the surprise all the greater. The crowd was most ready to go home when he got up and said:

"Feller Citizens of Jericho—I want to see this town boomed as much as any of you. I want to see her git up and bump herself till Boston or Chicago won't be in it, but when it comes to choosin between size and goodness I'm fur goodness. I think it's better fur one's soul and body to live in a small, good town than in a big, bad town. I'm willin to go in and help push Jericho along, as I said, but let's do it on right lines. Let's start her off on a high moral plane and keep her so."

"There's a p'int, and mebbe a mighty strong one, in what Bijah says," remarked Deacon Spooner as the speaker paused to collect his thoughts, "but up to this period his language is sorter ambiguous. He's drivin at sunthin, but what that sunthin is he'll have to explain."



CUT OFF THE TAILS OF THREE OF HIS HOGS.

"It's jest this," resumed Abijah. "I'm in favor of holdin one of the biggest religious revivals in this town this fall that was ever held on the top of this airth. I want it to be kept up till every human bein in the place is good 'nuff to die at a minit's notice. We'll git our moral standard first, and then we'll purceed to boom. When you kin advertise the fact that a town of nigh 2,000 inhabitants hasn't one single sinner in it, what's goin to be the result? Why, gentlemen, the influx, the rush, of preachers alone to such a place will bring about the sale of 2,000 city lots within a year. Widders will come here, orphans will come here, converted sinners and reformed drunkards will come here, and the newspapers will spread it broadcast that Jericho has no need of courts, constables or jails."

"I do decide that Bijah has made a p'int," said the deacon. "In a gineral way Jericho is a purty good town, but its moral standard kin be boosted up a peg or two, I reckon. I'm in fur the revival."

Admiron Taylor got up and said he also favored it. A town was like a child—start out in the right way with it, and it would prove a joy and a blessin. He hadn't seen a great deal of wickedness around Jericho, and he didn't believe there was much, but what was lurkin around in the fence corners might as well be driv out to make a clean state of it. He didn't believe in mixin booms with religion, but yet if a boom did foller the revival he had six acres of land which he would cut up into town lots and sell for fair prices.

Salathiel Thompson follered with a ringin speech. He had bin seein wickedness in Jericho for over 20 years, but not feelin strong 'nuff to cope with it single handed had kept his head shet and let it go on. To his certain knowledge there was liars and thieves and swindlers in the town. There was also drunkenness and profanity and bettin. He had sometimes gone to bed o' nights expectin the fate of Sodom to overtake the place before the sun riz. If a revival would sweep away all this wickedness, and he believed it would, then let 'er come. More goodness meant more churches, and if another meetin house was built he wanted the job and would take it at the lowest reasonable figger.

Solomon Davis follered with a history of Sodom and Gomorrah. He had read up on them towns and got all the particulars. If they'd had a revival and everybody turned to goodness, they'd not only have bin standin yit, but property along the main streets would have bin worth $1,000 a foot front. Nobody could say that Jericho was a hundredth part as wicked as Sodom, but she'd got a start and unless checked up it was only a question of time when an airthquake would leave her a heap of ruins. He wouldn't take up the valuable time of the meetin to give instances of wickedness beyond makin it known that durin the past year some Gomorrohite had cut off the tails of three of his hogs and pulled all the tail feathers out of one of his peacocks. Let the revival and the wave of goodness come on. He'd ring the bell for services and sweep out the church and not charge a cent for his services, and when the business boom follered it would find him ready to put down four rods of new sidewalk and take in ten boarders at $5 a week apiece.

There were half a dozen others who made speeches and pledged themselves, and Deacon Spooner tapped on the floor with his cane and said he thanked heaven he had lived to see that night. The enthusiasm was still bilin when Lish Billings strolled in and looked around in an inquirin way. The deacon explained what was up and asked him if he hadn't sunthin to say.

"Waal, not a great deal," replied Lish. "I'd like to ask who's to git up this revival?"

"We'll send for some great preacher," answers Abijah Holden.

"Who's to pay him? Preachers ain't revivalin around for nuthin, though they like to do good."

Everybody looked at everybody, but no one had any more to say.

"And when we got the revival started," continued Lish, "there'd have to be a lot of ownin up to things and askin forgiveness. Who's goin to own up to gittin drunk on hard cider, to jawin his wife, to lickin his children, to pizenin dogs, to cripplin hogs, to stealin fence rails, to a hundred other mean things? Take yer time about it and don't all speak at once, but lemme have the information."

Deacon Spooner opened his mouth as if to say that Lish had made a strong p'int, but closed it again and heaved a sigh and went out. Other sighs was heaved and other folks went out, and in three minits Lish Billings had all the cracker and sugar bar'ls to hisself and was wonderin what had busted up the meetin. M. QUAD.

THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS.

Political Sanction of What All Agreed to Be a Good Thing.

One of the latest writings of the late Charles Dudley Warner was an essay for The Century, entitled "The Pursuit of Happiness."

Perhaps the most curious and interesting phrase ever put into a public document is "the pursuit of happiness." It is declared to be an inalienable right. It cannot be sold. It cannot be given away. It is doubtful if it could be left by will.

The right of every man to be 6 feet high and of every woman to be 5 feet 4 was regarded as self evident until women asserted their undoubted right to be 6 feet high also, when some confusion was introduced into this interpretation of this rhetorical fragment of the eighteenth century.

But the inalienable right to the pursuit of happiness has never been questioned since it was proclaimed as a new gospel for the new world. The American people accepted it with enthusiasm, as if it had been the discovery of a gold prospector, and started out in the pursuit as if the devil were after them.

If the proclamation had been that happiness is a common right of the race, alienable or otherwise; that all men are or may be happy, history and tradition might have interfered to raise a doubt whether even the new form of government could so change the ethical condition. But the right to make a pursuit of happiness given in a fundamental bill of rights had quite a different aspect. Men had been engaged in many pursuits, most of them disastrous, some of them highly commendable. A sect in Galilee had set up the pursuit of righteousness as the only or the highest object of man's immortal powers. The rewards of it, however, were not always immediate. Here was a political sanction of a pursuit that everybody acknowledged to be of a good thing.

Sneeze Without Winking.

Bobby came home one day covered with dirt and bruises and trundling a broken bicycle.

"What on earth have you been doing, my child?" exclaimed his terrified mother.

"I ran over a big dog and took a fall," explained Bobby.

"Couldn't you see him and give him the road?"

"Yes; I saw him and was turning out, but when I got within about ten feet of him I shut my eyes, and before I got 'em open again I'd run into him."

"For the land's sake, what did you shut your eyes for?"

"Couldn't help it. Had to sneeze. If you think you can hold your eyes open when the sneeze comes, you just try it some day."

If the reader thinks Bobby's excuse was not a valid one, let him try it some day "when the sneeze comes."—Youth's Companion.

DRESS AND FASHION.

SOME PRESENT STYLES THAT CARRY AUTUMN INTIMATIONS.

Ribbons In Rosettes and Quaint Devices Are Chief Trimmings—The Smart Little Loose Sack—Garden Party and Other Gowns.

Ribbons will doubtless constitute the chief trimmings in autumn gowns, for the old fashioned ruches and quillings are coming in again, and these are mostly formed of ribbon.

Quaint devices of ribbon arabesques are discernible on some of the summer dresses, and on some appear the old ribbon or lace rosettes, with narrow ribbon ends or tassels depending from the center.

Scarfs, knotted and twisted, are caught across the front of bodices, usually in rich brocaded or soft spotted gauze ribbons. In other cases the knotted scarf falls at the side of the skirt.

Sashes are in high favor, while the craze for interthreading of ribbon velvet through lace and material alike continues unabated.

The watteau cosaque and the loose sack are the leading shapes for outdoor coverings, and very smart these comfortable little wraps are, with their loose fronts and their wide cuffed sleeves permitting the most perishable of undersleeves to be slipped in without fear of damage. These are made in flowered taffetas or white cloth, with deep turndown collar, and the edges trimmed with a fluffed out ruching.

Many of the linen gowns are made with three shaped flounces narrowing in the front and widening considerably at the back, and large sailor collars figure on the bodices. The painted muslins are simply exquisite and show tiny roses and marguerites. They are popularly made with shaped flounces at the hem and pretty, soft falling fichus, which are often united on the front by a couple of straps of black velvet.

Black velvet becomes almost monotonous from its insistent appearance. Every hat has its note of black, usually a bow or knot of velvet behind, while the unfailing clou to the toilet is given by tags or rosettes of black velvet on skirt and bodice.

Lacings of bebe ribbon are fashionable at the sides of skirts and are used to connect the fronts of corselet belts.

Illustrating some of these features are the two cuts. First is a frou frou gown strewn with pompadour wreaths, either painted or embroidered, to which one of the new sacks gives additional chic. This sack is in pink crepe de chine, enhanced with ruches and plaitings in silk muslin, with black velvet rosettes down the fronts.

Second are two summer resort toilets. The sitting figure shows a pearl gray veiling dress set off with cuffs, round collar and waistcoat fronts of white pique, striped with black velvet ribbon, as is the skirt. The hat is of black net and silver braid.

The open throated flounced dress is of pink embroidered linen, enhanced with bracelets, cord and streamers of pastel blue velvet. The hat is in coarse white straw, trimmed with white chiffon and blue velvet.

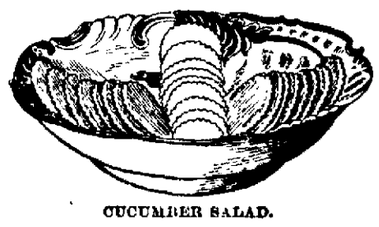
Invalid Cookery.

Rice caudle is an excellent remedy for any case where a sudden chill has brought on diarrhea. Soak some rice for an hour in cold water, strain it and put two tablespoonfuls of the rice into rather more than a pint of new milk. Simmer till it will pulp through a sieve. Put the pulp and milk into a saucepan with a bruised clove, a little cinnamon and sugar to taste. Simmer ten minutes more. If too thick, add a little more milk. Serve with very thin strips of dry toast.

TIMELY RECIPES.

A Refreshing Salad and Some Tempting Vegetable Arrangements.

Potatoes to Serve With Fish.—Pass hot mashed potatoes through a ricer. Add a generous piece of butter, a little salt and hot milk or cream, as needed. Beat thoroughly and press firmly into a buttered tin. Have the potato about half an inch thick. Cut into diamond shaped pieces and score diagonally with a skewer dipped in melted butter.



CUCUMBER SALAD.

Brush over with the yolk of an egg beaten with a tablespoonful of milk and brown in the oven. Serve with a teaspoonful of peas, in a thick cream sauce, in the center of each piece.

Cucumber Salad.—With a handy slicer remove the outside rind from the cucumbers, cut in thin slices and let stand in ice water to chill. Wipe dry and arrange the slices in the salad bowl in the form of a Greek cross. Make a French dressing in the proportion of three tablespoonfuls of cider vinegar to six tablespoonfuls of oil, half a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of paprika. Rub the inside of the salad bowl with the cut side of an onion before the salad is disposed in it.

Now that tomatoes are coming in plentifully we can use them for panning, broiling and stuffing. To pan them cut firm ones in half, flour well and put cut side downward in a pan in which one tablespoonful of butter has been heated. Season, cover and cook slowly until they are tender all through and browned on the cut side. Transfer to a hot platter, brown side up; stir into the butter in the pan one tablespoonful of flour; mix and add one cupful of milk, stirring until smoothly thickened. Pour this gravy around the hot tomatoes.

If for broiling, cut the tomatoes into thick slices, dry well, season and dip each slice into melted butter, then into fine bread crumbs and broil at once over a clear fire.

All sorts of mixtures may be used for stuffing tomatoes—chopped meats, boiled rice, bread crumbs. The two requisites are a high seasoning and moistness, the latter result being attained by adding one or more spoonfuls of melted butter to the mixture. A sharp oven will bake and brown them in about half an hour.

Eggplant is a good breakfast substitute for meat. It is cut into slices, egged and crumbed and fried in smoking hot fat. This gives a less greasy dish than when it is sauted in a pan. This vegetable may also be stuffed, first parboiling it whole, then halving, cutting out the center from each half, chopping this and mixing with an equal amount of crumbs, a high seasoning of salt, pepper, onion juice, a few spoonfuls of melted butter, chopped parsley and, if liked, chopped ham. The shells are then to be filled and baked.—Table Talk.

Angel and Another White Cake.

Dainty and delightful is angel cake. Properly made, it is fit for angels; badly made it would give a goat indigestion. The whites of 11 eggs are put into a large soup plate with 1½ cups of confectioner's sugar and beaten until stiff. Care must be taken that none of the yolks are allowed to color the mixture. One cup of flour is then added, with a teaspoonful of vanilla essence. Lastly, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar is beaten in with the mixture. The cake is put into a square tin which has not been greased or buttered and baked for 40 minutes.

Another white cake, rather less troublesome, is made with half a cup of fresh butter beaten to a cream, one cup of granulated sugar added gradually and beaten well and two cups of flour into which have been sifted two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. The beaten whites of four eggs and half a cup of milk are added and the cake baked for 30 minutes in a shallow tin.

Lemonade and Iced Tea.

Lemonade as it is usually made is too weak and is not allowed to stand long enough on the ice. Made with plenty of lemons and nearly as many oranges with carbonic water and some fruit it is incomparable.

Iced tea is a grateful dinner drink and should be poured warm from the pot upon the ice in the glass that it is to be served in. The lemon and sugar can be added at the discretion of the individual. Coffee frappe is delightful in summer when it is very cold and served with whipped cream.

The Trunk Rest.

The trunk rest is a device to save the back of the trunk owner, and a great boon it is to travelers and sojourners in resorts at the mountains or by the shore. It supports the trunk at a convenient height to spare one's back when packing or unpacking and to give easy access when the trunk is in daily use; also it makes it possible to sweep under the trunk.

Corn Fritters.

Cut the kernels from five or six ears of corn. Break an egg in it and add salt and pepper to suit the taste. Drop from a large spoon into a frying pan with hot butter in it. Fry on both sides to a rich brown. Canned corn may be used.

WHEN OTHERS FAIL, CONSULT

DOCTOR KUTCHIN

20 Years Experience

Recognized by the entire medical fraternity as the

LEADING AND MOST SUCCESSFUL SPECIALIST IN THE WORLD.

He cures sick men and women, and has an established reputation for honesty and reliability. He keeps his promises.

The Bible says: "In the mouths of two or three witnesses shall every word be established." Here are several witnesses.

Dr. Kutchin has hundreds of such testimonials, but never publishes a name unless asked to do so. Read what these cured and happy people have to say.

WHY DON'T YOU SEE THE DOCTOR BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE?

SNATCHED FROM THE JAWS OF DEATH.

I was desperately ill for several years with Brights Disease of the Kidneys. I had as good doctors as I could get in this part of the country, but they did not help me. I was bloated so I could not walk; my feet were swollen so I could only wear a big pair of father's overshoes; I was almost blind, and the doctors gave me up to die.

My father took me to Dr. Kutchin, and while he would not promise to cure me, he gave me treatment. I have doctored with him for 4 months. Now I can go any place and am improving so rapidly that I feel about as well as ever. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Kutchin. Will answer letters if stamp is enclosed. MRS. CHARLES YANNAYON, Rittman, Ohio.

THIS FRENCHMAN'S EXPERIENCE IS GOOD READING.

Versailles, O., April, 1901.

For seven years I never drew a well breath. I took Peruna and all the other patent medicines until I had enough bottles in my house to start a drug store. I tried seven or eight local doctors. Nothing ever helped me. Finally I went to see Dr. Kutchin, and he pronounced my disease Bronchial Catarrh. In three months I gained eighteen pounds. I am getting well as fast as a man can.

Dr. Kutchin is very reasonable in his charges and I would have saved hundreds of dollars if I had gone to him sooner. I advise all the sick to doctor with him, for they will never regret it. JOSEPH SAINTIGNON.

CURED SEVEN YEARS AGO.

I was in deep trouble 7 years ago. In fact, I was about dead. I had a bad case of catarrh of the stomach and disease of the kidneys. I could not do an hour's work without playing out. I was bloated, nervous, sleepless, with pain in my back and a tired, all-gone feeling. I used to get up in the morning more tired than when I went to bed. Nothing helped me. I had often heard of Dr. Kutchin and I determined to go and see him. He took my case and cured me. I owe my life to him. This was six years ago. I keep well and strong. My advice to the sick is—go and see Dr. Kutchin. If he can't do you good he will tell you so. He is reliable in every way, and you can depend on him. I will answer letters enclosing stamp. H. G. ABELL, Cortland, Ohio.

ONE PATENT WRITES.

"I was borught up on a farm, but at 20 was a nervous wreck. I was morose, despondent and gloomy, nervous, sunken eyes with dark circles; no ambition; cold hands and feet; memory poor; back weak; dragging feeling in loins; varicocele; palpitation of the heart; hair loose; pimples on face. My hollow cheeks, stooping form and downcast countenance revealed the blight of my existence. Doctors treated me for consumption, but did not help me. I was recomended by a frend to try Doctor Kutchin. His treatment made me a different man. I was radically and permanently cured. My nerves became strong—my blood pure—gained 19 pounds—eyes bright and cheerful—a new life opened up, and I felt myself a man in every respect—mentally and physically."

The doctor has been visiting this county for eight years.

COURTS OF INQUIRY

Their Functions, Scope and Authority. Expensive Naval Tribunals.

Not only here, but all over the civilized world, especially in naval circles, there is intense interest in the Schley court of inquiry, which opens in Washington on Sept. 12. Almost every individual in this country at least is familiar with the facts of this great naval controversy, but few civilians have any idea of the power and duties of a court of inquiry or how one is conducted.

Although courts of inquiry were held in this country previous to 1800, the United States did not legally recognize the wisdom of holding them until April of that year, and the laws as to their powers have not undergone the slightest change since then.

To ascertain facts in any case that is complicated and "for the information of superior authority only" is the purpose of a court of inquiry. It may be convened to fix any responsibility, which is merely a preliminary proceeding to a trial by court martial. The main purpose of the Schley inquiry will be to clear up matters of public welfare, and, believing himself aggrieved, the rear admiral stands in the legal sense of demanding exculpation for something he did or did not do. He has the privilege of demanding the presence of any witness he chooses and may be represented by counsel either in the navy or out, but is cut off absolutely from all connection with the court except as chief witness for himself.

The Schley court of inquiry will record, sift and methodize the information gleaned, but will not have the authority to convict. Its report alone will determine if further action is necessary. To summon witnesses, administer oaths and punish contempts are the powers a court of inquiry has. It cannot fix punishment and is unlike a civil court in that respect because its power is only temporary, being dissolved by the authority which ordered it to convene.

In a word, the full scope of a court of inquiry of the Schley order is "well and truly to examine and inquire"—that and nothing more. Its members can only state facts and seldom give an opinion unless commanded to do so by the order convening the body.

A small fortune will be spent by the navy department in this inquiry. Officers have been summoned from all over the world, ten of them coming from the Asiatic station. This will amount to quite a sum, as the naval regulations provide that officers traveling under orders in the United States shall be allowed 8 cents per mile while so engaged in lieu of their actual expenses, and officers traveling to the United States from a foreign station receive subsistence pay at the rate of from 80 cents to $1 per day if traveling on a naval vessel or on an army transport. However, as few of the men summoned will be able to travel on government vessels they will be allowed 8 cents per mile for the journey they make by rail and actual traveling expenses for the sea voyage. It is estimated that the expense of summoning the ten officers from the Asiatic station will amount to $5,000.

CAPTAIN JAMES PARKER.
[Counsel for Rear Admiral Schley.]

The inquiry will doubtless last a month, if not two, and in addition to the expense of bringing witnesses there are the running expenses of the court. It will require a large clerical force and a number of stenographers.

No extra compensation is given officers ordered to appear before a court of inquiry as witnesses. Full active pay, though, is given retired officers for the time employed. Rear Admirals Howison and Benham, both retired, will receive pay, therefore, at the rate of $6,375 instead of $5,675 a year.

The Schley court of inquiry will hold its meetings in a richly appointed apartment in the navy department. Expensive carpets cover the floor, and the walls are elaborately decorated and hung with valuable paintings of former secretaries of the navy.

The principal witnesses to be called before the Schley court of inquiry and their present stations are as follows:

Captain Cook of the Brooklyn, at Annapolis; Captain Clark of the Oregon, League Island; Captain Chadwick of Admiral Sampson's flagship, the New York, Newport; Rear Admiral Evans of the Iowa, Washington, at present on a yachting trip. Rear Admiral Higginson of the Massachusetts, now in command of the north Atlantic station; Lieutenant Commander Wainwright, commander of the Gloucester, now superintendent of the Naval academy at Annapolis; Lieutenant Sharp of the Vixen, on duty on the training ship Hartford, somewhere off the coast of Sweden; Admiral Sampson, Boston; Lieutenant Staunton, Sampson's flag lieutenant, now in command of the Yankton, in Porto Rican waters; Lieutenant

ADMIRAL GEORGE DEWEY
[President of the Schley board of inquiry.]

Commander Sears, Schley's flag lieutenant, hydrographic office, New York; Lieutenant Wells, Schley's secretary, on the Kearsarge; Lieutenant Marsh, Sampson's secretary, on the Mayflower; Lieutenant Hodgson, navigator of the Brooklyn, Newport; Lieutenant Commander Seaton Schroeder, executive officer of the Massachusetts, naval governor of Guam; Executive Officer Harbor of the Texas, naval attache at Paris.

The judge advocate in the Schley inquiry, Captain Samuel C. Lemly, is particularly well fitted for this work. He is a civil as well as a maritime lawyer and has acted as judge advocate in many courts martial, three of which were considered as most important—namely, that of Paymaster Watkins, tried on the Asiatic station for unlawful expenditure of public money; that of Surgeon General Wales for inefficiency, and that of Paymaster General Smith for criminal neglect. He was also judge advocate in the Jeannette court of inquiry.

Rear Admiral Benham, retired, who, with Admiral Dewey and Rear Admiral Howison, will be a member of the Schley court of inquiry, is distinctively a fighter and is best known as the man who broke the blockade at Rio Janeiro in the Brazilian rebellion of 1895.

Captain James Parker of Perth Amboy, N. J., will be Admiral Schley's counsel in the court of inquiry. He is said to be an authority on matters pertaining to maritime law and will handle the naval part of the case.

Captain Parker entered the navy when 14 years of age. He resigned in 1856, but re-entered in 1861 and was restored to the rank he held when he resigned. Five years later he resigned because he was unable to get a promotion that he wanted. The captain is 70 years of age and has made law his profession since leaving the navy. He is one of Admiral Schley's closest personal friends.

A FAMOUS DRAMATIST.

Personality of Clyde Fitch, Author of Many Successful Plays.

Although yet in his thirties, Mr. Clyde Fitch, the famous dramatist, has built for himself a most creditable name and position. His plays have attracted attention all over the world and are so greatly admired in England that no less than five of them will be on the London stage during the coming season.

Mr. Fitch's success came very early in life. When he wrote "Beau Brummel" for Richard Mansfield, ten years ago, he was regarded as the infant prodigy, and his later works have classed him among the foremost American dramatists. In New York last season four plays from his pen were running simultaneously, and all of them playing to crowded houses.

The dramatist has been writing nearly all his life. Though only 16 years of age when he was admitted to Amherst college, he soon proved that he could write poetry with the best of them. His verses appeared in all the college publications, and he was elected president of the Amherst Dramatic club. He graduated from this college when 21 and immediately went to New York, where he engaged in literary and newspaper work. When "Beau Brummel" was produced and made such a hit, he determined to devote his time exclusively to play writing.

Mr. Fitch is a New Yorker and lives in most luxurious style in a beautiful home recently built. He is rather a small man, with inky black hair. He always dresses in the latest style and possesses a manner that is delicate in the extreme. As a child he was trained by a mother who always regretted that he was not a girl and who did her best to make him "ladylike." It has been said that he resembles Rostand in appearance.

In 11 years Mr. Fitch has written 24 plays, all of them being produced. It is said that his income last season from six plays he had running was $4,000 a week.

A MANAGER'S WIFE.

Grace George and How She Came to Be a Star.

There is a great deal, of course, in having William A. Brady for a manager, but the decided hit of Grace George's last season in "Her Majesty" was made entirely by her own work on the stage. She won much praise from public and press, and a great future was predicted for her.

The actress, who in private life is Mrs. William A. Brady, came into prominence in 1899 by her sweet and sympathetic performance of the young wife in "Mlle. Fifi." Her first public appearance was four years previous to this, when, after two years' instruction under Professor Sargent at the Lyceum School of Acting in New York, she took the part of Nancy in "The Newsboy." Such a good showing was made that her services were always in demand, and season after season she was given important parts in well known plays.

The methods of Grace George are natural and unaffected, and she is gifted with a girlish and beautiful stage presence. She will make another stellar venture next season, opening in New York.

OUR ENGINES AHEAD.

AMERICAN LOCOMOTIVES BEATING THE ENGLISH.

Recent Consolidation Leaves Only Two Leading American Works In the Field—The Great Baldwin Works and Their Head.

Two very recent developments in the manufacture and sale of locomotive engines are of the greatest importance and interest to American industry. The first is the exportation of American locomotives and their successful competition with those of English make. Leaders of the English steel and iron industry are complaining bitterly that even in England's colonies the Yankee locomotive builders are outselling Great Britain's product. In India, in the West Indies and in other parts our locomotives are now found, for they are manufactured and delivered more quickly than the English, at a lower price and do better service.

The English have, however, found one vulnerable point in our armor of excellence. They have proved that it takes more fuel to run an American locomotive. That this is offset by the increased work and that it will soon be corrected is the contention of American locomotive builders.

The other development in the locomotive field is domestic. By a recent consolidation there are now in America but two great locomotive manufacturing concerns. Almost all the big factories, with the excepeion of the Baldwin, have gone into the American Locomotive company or "trust." The only two concerns that manufacture locomotives besides the "trust" and the Baldwin Locomotive works have a combined capacity of 400 engines a year. The Baldwin works and those of the American Locomotive company are able to turn out considerably over 3,000 in the same time, or about ten for each working day of the year.

To realize the wonders of locomotive building one must go through one of the large works, like the Baldwin. A plant complete in every respect is necessary to accomplish the really stupendous task of building in one day four complete, fully equipped engines, ready to draw trains, such as the Baldwin works turn out.

The works take the raw material—pig iron, sheet brass, etc.—and in the dozen or so of shops turn it into a locomotive. Among the shops are the erecting, boiler, machine, brass, wood, spring, tank, forge and foundry shops, and there are also rooms for storing and testing, besides immense storage rooms for the material. The Baldwin works cover many acres of ground, and some of the shops are each an entire city square in extent. The works are situated in Philadelphia.

JOHN H. CONVERSE.
[In private office of the Baldwin Locomotive Works.]

First in order in the building of a locomotive is the drafting of the plans, in itself an interesting and complex operation. After that is done it is impossible to tell what is next, for the plans are distributed to the shops, and work on the innumerable parts of each engine goes on at the same time.

When all the parts of the immense locomotives have been cast, molded, hammered and otherwise reduced to final shape, they are sent to the erecting shop. Here there are two 100 ton cranes, able to pick up and carry about the heaviest engines ever built. First the heavier and then the smaller parts of the engine proper are assembled into their position, and then they are bolted together. One of the big cranes then lifts the still incomplete structure, and the wheels are fitted into place. Slowly then the engine is lowered upon the trucks. Later come the sheathing and other finishing work, and the engine is ready, after being tested, to leave the shop under its own steam.

John H. Converse, the present head of the Baldwin Locomotive works, is one of Philadelphia's leading citizens. As a Philadelphia paper said a short time ago "it is difficult to say how John H. Converse of Philadelphia is most widely known, as one of the heads of the great Baldwin works, as a philanthropist or as a Presbyterian."

Mr. Converse is a Vermonter by birth, 60 years of age and a graduate of the university of his native state. He began his career as a journalist, abandoning newspaper work to enter the service of the Chicago and Northwestern railway in 1864. After several years of railroad life Mr. Converse accepted a post of responsibility in the Baldwin works and has risen to the head

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION LABEL MASSILLON, NO. 738

THURSDAY. AUGUST 22, 1901.

That high sounding paragraph in the platform just adopted by the Democrats of Virginia concerning "The rights of America freedom" which must not be "sacrificed in the interests of corporations" would come with better grace from politicians who had not determined to disfranchise a large body of American voters.

Dreyfus in his diary, recently published, says that during his imprisonment on Devil's island he was at times reduced by hunger to the necessity of eating raw tomatoes. This would not seem to be so terrible a hardship to some people, but it must be remembered that a Frenchman would as soon eat a raw potato as an uncooked tomato.

Director of the Mint George E. Roberts has just returned from a tour of the west. He believes that the loss of corn will be made up by the gain on wheat and that the country is under such a tremendous momentum of prosperity that neither the injury to the crops nor the trouble in the trades can make a serious halt in its forward march. The activity, moreover, is that of industry and legitimate trade. There seems to be no logical reason why that band of prosperity should not be always on hand.

The Topeka Capital says that calamity howlers are now complaining because corn is 75 cents a bushel in some parts of eastern Kansas and at that price cannot be fed. If it cannot be fed, advises the Capital, let it be sold and turn the surplus wheat into live stock. There will be, with the old crop on hand, not less than sixty million bushels of corn in Kansas this fall. If it is sold at 75 cents it will bring $45,000,000 which is more than any corn crop has realized in the history of the state. Those who have a mania for hunting trouble are usually blessed with a genius for finding it.

The citizens of Jackson township have probably secured a greater railroad enterprise than they are aware of in the Massillon-Akron-Canton lines. The proposition is to establish an important power plant near McDonaldsville that is to furnish not only power for three divisions of the road, but electric light for the several cities and villages touched by the line. All this will require extensive works and employ a number of men. The intention of the company to haul coal and other freight over the lines outside of the city corporations, made public in an interview with one of its officers in the Cleveland Leader, will necessitate terminal and yard facilities at McDonaldville and may also be the means of developing some of the coal territory that is known to exist in that neighborhood.

In the inmost recesses of the Canton News Democrat's sanctum sanctorum the other day, the Hon. Anthony Howells, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Ohio, unbosomed himself to sympathetic ears. In its very next issue the News Democrat, bursting with secrets so recently revealed, gave the whole thing dead away as follows:

"Mr. Howells feels much encouraged over the political outlook and reports that he finds an undertow among the voters that may mean much to the Democratic ticket this fall. It is no violation of confidence to say that Mr. Howells is in excellent spirits over the political outlook. He will enter actively into the labors of the campaign in September."

Where can Mr. Howells go to tell important campaign secrets if the News Democrat is going to betray him in this barefaced manner? No violation of confidence! Why the very excuse shows a guilty conscience.

THE FIGHT FOR PRINCIPLES.

Bernard Hubert, of Toledo, secretary of the executive committee of the Progressive Democratic party, has written an open letter to William J. Bryan in reply to his article headed "A Word to the Disappointed." In his communication Mr. Hubert refers to the recent Democratic state convention as "a crowd of traitors" and declares that the platform adopted is "composed of platitudes which mean nothing and offer no hope to the toiling masses of the people. It repudiates everything which the Democracy has fought for during the past two national campaigns." Bryan is asked why he wants the party in Ohio to support the ticket when to do so may intrench the internal enemies of the Democracy by giving them the added prestige of patronage. Will that not enable them to more effectually disrupt the Democratic party? Mr. Hubert gives a little attention to Colonel Kilbourne. He says:

"You also state that we ought to support the ticket because the men nominated have supported the ticket in 1896 and 1900. I beg to differ with you on that point. Colonel Kilbourne did not support the ticket in 1896, and only supported it in a lukewarm manner in 1900, because he looked forward to a nomination in 1901. The Hon. W. W. Durbin, who was chairman of the Democratic state central committee in 1896, publicly stated that Colonel Kilbourne absolutely refused to make a speech, write a commendatory letter or preside over a Democratic meeting, and turned a deaf ear to repeated appeals, and finally, to escape it all, left for Europe on pleasure bent. Even if we should forget and forgive Colonel Kilbourne's cowardly evasion of duty in 1896, we are not willing to sacrifice all the Democratic principles in order to elect him to office."

TRAMP WAS KILLED

And Property Smashed in Wheeling Wreck.

TWO TRAINS MET HEAD ON.

Eight or Ten Cars Piled up at Bowerston, and Engines No. 166 and 199 Receive Rough Treatment—The day's Doings in and About Massillon Yards.

A disastrous wreck on the Wheeling, near Bowerston, about 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, sadly demoralized traffic on the east end during the rest of the day and Tuesday night. No. 8, due here at 7:15 in the evening, did not arrive until after midnight. The trouble was caused by a head end collision of an east bound freight, first 65, drawn by one of the large engines, No. 199, with Engineer Fancer at the throttle, and Louis Anthony, conductor, and a gravel train, under Conductor Bell, west bound, and pulled by engine No. 166, Engineer George Whitmarsh. The crews of both trains, all the members of which reside in Massillon, escaped uninjured, but an unknown man, stealing a ride between the bumpers, was crushed in the wreckage and instantly killed.

Both engines were badly smashed and eight or ten cars piled up over the tracks. The accident it is said was caused by the operator at Bowerston giving the gravel train a white block, and failing to stop it as it passed by, to hand over orders that awaited it. The operator it is said attracted the attention of the crew of the gravel train, after the latter had passed the office, but the collision occurred before Engineer Whitmarsh could reverse and go back. Columbia machinists and the wrecking crew were called to the scene and are now engaged on the wreckage.

The early morning west bound Pennsylvania mail train was several hours late today. It was delayed by a wreck on the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg.

Yard Switchman Fitzsimmons of the Wheeling is off duty.

Conductor J. W. Gray has reported for work on the W. & L. E., after being off duty for some time on account of the illness of Mrs. Gray.

Brakeman J. L. Snodgrass has resumed his duties on the Wheeling after an illness.

Joseph Golden has resigned his position as night machinists helper in the Columbia yards.

REPLY RECEIVED.

Lehman Must Prove That He is the Only Living Heir.

Mayor Wise has received a reply from the Zweibrucken, Germany, authorities to whom he wrote recently concerning the fortune which it was reported awaited Fred Lehman of this city. The reply states that the sum of 711 marks, or something over $100 awaits Lehman as soon as he can prove that he is the only living heir of the family. If other heirs are alive, however, the letter states, the sum will be divided equally among all.

Hundred Year Clubs

Are becoming numerous. The idea is to promote longevity. It is interesting to note, that the means through which long life is to be obtained, is food and the stomach. Long life and good health are not possible unless the stomach does its work properly. There is a way to make it, if it does not. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an ideal strength restorer If you would be cured of dyspepsia, indigestion, belching, constipation, insomnia, nervousness, biliousness try the Bitters Everybody should try it to help nature rid the blood of all impurities It possesses valuable curative properties, and as a specific for malaria, fever and ague, it is unequalled. Don't fail to give it a trial, but be sure you get the genuine.

PEOPLE ONE SEES.

Many Massillonians Meet in Buffalo.

FRIENDS TURN UP ON MIDWAY.

"Ki-Ki," Who Was a Savage South Sea Islander in Massillon Street Fair Days, is There to Greet all Comers—So is "Willie Wonder," but Phoebe, His Pet Pig, is Dead—Massillonians not Impressed With New York State Hospital.

Pan-American Exposition Grounds, Buffalo, Aug. 21.—Massillonians who have registered at the Ohio building within the past few days are George F. Fleming, C. A. Howald, the Rev. J. E. Digel, Misses Estella and Lillian Digel, George A. Howells, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fox and Mrs. George Goodhart. Hiram Dissinger of Canal Fulton is also registered. The Hon William A. Lynch, of Canton, president of the Canton-Massillon Electric Railway Company, concluded a brief visit at the exposition Monday. Mr. Lynch spent much time in the transportation building, where there are exhibited street cars both of and not of the kind that are to be run on the Navarre line. The kind that the Massillon line now has is not conspicuous in the exhibit. Mr. Lynch thinks it a pretty good show. "I had been told," he remarked, "that the electrical display is all there is to it. I do not think so. The electrical feature naturally overshadows most of the others, and obliterates other impressions, but it is by no means the only thing worth seeing."

One meets many old friends on the Midway. Ki-ki, who at the Massillon state fair was the fierce South Sea islander of cannibalistic tendencies, is here one of the "strange feelingless people who can walk upon the ceiling like flies." He does his walking at the "House upside down." Ki-ki, though supposed to approach no nearer to articulation than a blood curdling combination snarl and yelp, will recognize an acquaintance when his duties are not pressing, and is not averse to smoking a cigar and chatting of the days gone by. He had quite a talk with E. E. Fox; who was a member of the Massillon street fair association. Ki-ki's change of character has not entailed a change of costume. He still wears his wolf skins. And he still shaves and paints his head.

Willie Wonder, who rode behind a trained pig at the Massillon fair, with locks as long and yellow, and trousers as wide and red as of yore, does a clownish turn in connection with the "golden chariots." His pig died a year ago.

The scrupulous sightseer should do the Midway before he takes his trip up the electrical tower. For from the tower, without exertion, one can steal an excellent view of the bull fight, the Mexican streets, darkest Africa and other things, each in itself of more than the tower trip cost. Many a good man has here been led astray.

Charles B. Allen, of Massillon, is getting rich selling fifteen cent lunches on an Elmwood avenue spot that costs him a dozen dollars or so a foot each month. Mrs. Allen is with him. They expect to return to Massillon in the fall. Mr. Allen says he still retains a connection with the Dauntless Burner Company.

Most of the things that one must have sell on the grounds at just double their ordinary cost. The cheapest meal costs fifty cents. It is not the equal of a Massillon restaurant quarter meal. All sandwiches cost a dime. Prices of coffee, tea, ice cream soda water and such drinks are doubled. Beer and milk are the only right-priced beverages on the grounds. No more than a nickel for a small glass is charged. Ten cents will buy a cigar inferior to the average five-cent variety. At most places nothing cheaper is sold. The five-cent cigar is the stogie. Tobacco users will do well to lay in supplies before leaving Massillon.

Almost opposite the exposition grounds is a New York state hospital for the insane. Naturally it is of more than ordinary interest to Massillonians. Architecturally the institution is really magnificent, but it seems a shabby affair to Massillon visitors. The buildings are taller and larger than those of the Massillon hospital, but none of them have marble wainscoating and only a few have marble floors.

CASE DISMISSED.

Prosecuting Witness Fails to Appear Against Hughes.

Joseph Hughes, of East Greenville, charged with stealing $20 from the pockets of P. O. Bretz, was dismissed by Squire Wefler, of Tuscarawas township, on Monday afternoon, the prosecuting witness failing to make his appearance. Hughes was arrested by Constable Sibila, Bretz claiming that he had picked his pockets while he was under the influence of liquor

The trespass case against James Ferguson, Henry Hardy, and Harley Thornton, of Akron, charged with trespassing upon the Stanwood school lot was also dismissed by Squire Wefler, the defendants paying the costs and the prosecuting witnesses waiving further prosecution.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

Children's Day, Tuesday, September 3.

MANY SPLENDID ATTRACTIONS.

They Will all be on Exhibition on the Day Set Apart for the Youngsters—Jubilee Singers Will Render a Choice Programme.

Children's day at the Stark county fair this year will be on Tuesday, September 3, the second day of the fair. The low admission of 5 cents for each person under the age of 15 years will be charged, and on that day all the special attractions will be present for the benefit of the children.

Dubee's animal show will be of especial interest, with its trained dogs, monkeys, cats and rats. It is one of the most novel shows in the country and those who have seen it pronounce it splendid. Its present management is at Atlantic City, which fact is the best recommendation possible, for none but the best is secured for that high-toned watering place.

There will be two races that day, also. One on the regular speed programme and another novelty race that will be especially interesting.

In addition to the races, there will be music by a brass band.

During this day, set aside especially for the children, Slayton's Tennesseeans, the noted double quartette of singers, will be present and sing. They will give their programme during each day and in the evening during the fair. In securing these singers the management has been very fortunate, as they are one of the biggest drawing cards in the country. They fill engagements in the finest opera houses during the winter season and are always in demand. Wherever they go, the press is extravagant in its praises. They are without doubt the best that travels. They sing the popular songs, but their greatest hits are in the old familiar plantation melodies that stir the memories of all hearers.

Under the heading, "Every Number Received an Encore," the Courier, of New Albion, Ia., says of these singers:

"The finest entertainment ever given at New Albion was that of the Slayton Tennesseeans at Pohlmann's hall. The audience was a large one, and there was surely no lack of appreciation and enthusiasm. Every number on the programme merited and received an encore, while several times the delighted audience would not be satisfied with only one recall.

"The strong point of the company lies in their singing of the jubilee songs, which were rendered in a manner unequaled by any save those of the same Southern race. The Slayton Tennesseeans may be assured of a rousing reception when they come again."

Delegations of children are expected at the fair from all over the county. In some districts they will come by schools, and it is certain that there will be thousands of juveniles on the grounds Tuesday.

FATAL ECONOMY.

A VERY old maxim declares that it isn't economy to pick up pins; the time is worth more than the pins. Similarly it is not true economy to do without Ivory Soap; your health requires the daily removal of the bodily excretions which are discharged through the pores of the skin. These tiny mouths must be kept open, and they should be opened only with a pure soap.

He stated that it was the intention of the company to construct a mammoth lighting plant, with capacity to supply Canton, Akron, Greentown, New Berlin and other towns with lights if they so desire. The will of Sarah Jane Raymond, of Perry township, has been filed for probate.

The roadbed of the Canton-Akron electric line has been graded and the rails laid to the Uniontown hill, a distance of twelve miles from this city. This work embraces the most difficult grades and curves along the entire route, and the balance of the grading will progress much more rapidly. It will be several weeks before rails will be laid in the down town streets of the city.

Gentlemen—Peruna is the best tonic I have ever known for general debility—a sure cure for liver complaint, and a never-failing adjuster in cases of dyspepsia. I have also used it in cases of female irregularities and weak nerves common to the sex, and have found it most satisfactory. For almost any internal trouble Peruna is an ideal medicine chest.

I was fifty-seven years old last Friday and don't feel as if I could be more than twenty. I was sick for five long years, I doctored all the time. Nothing helped me permanently until I heard of Dr. Hartman and his medicine and he cured me. I had been so sick, suffered almost death, vomiting three or four times daily, no strength, not able to walk, and now for one year and a half I have been a well woman. People are surprised to see me so well. I tell them that Dr. Hartman cured me with Peruna."

For all of that class of disorders known as female diseases, Peruna is without a rival, because it strikes at the source of these diseases. Peruna produces clean, healthy mucous membranes, without which no woman can be strong or beautiful.

The work of the greatest importance on the farm when you read this is to get a team at work turning over that stubble field.

The bushel of corn and the bushel of wheat are closer together in the matter of price than they have been for a good many years.

Corn is the crop of greatest value produced in this country, followed by hay, wheat, cotton, oats and potatoes in the order named.

There are no straw stacks to be seen anywhere in the far north wheat country. The wheat is largely cut with a header, or where cut with a harvester the straw is used up as fuel to run the thrashing engine.

We passed lately through a country community which six years ago was swept and wrecked by a cyclone. In each back yard may now be seen a cyclone cave, the practical uses of which are as well understood by these people as is his hole in the ground by a prairie dog.

The most inexcusably crooked work we see done in the country is where the highways worked with a grader are run weaving and wabbling, varying from 10 to 15 feet from the center of the road, such work seeming to be just suited to the old granger who goes home from town with a jag.

A horse collar made of heavy cotton duck and stuffed with cotton lint, manufactured in Georgia and retailing at 80 cents, is proving the finest thing for horses with sore or tender shoulders which has ever been introduced, proving a cure all for this trouble, which bothers so many owners of horses.

The lack of humidity in the atmosphere does almost as much to injure plant growth when associated with extreme heat as a lack of moisture in the earth. It was the extreme dryness of the air during the heated term of the past month which did more to injure the corn crop than the lack of moisture in the ground.

Where timothy and clover are grown as a mixed crop for hay it is a very common mistake to let the clover get too far matured before the crop is cut. These plants do not mature at the same time, and it is far better to cut the crop when the clover is just right even if the timothy is not matured, for the clover forms the best part of such hay.

The wonderful effects of the lightning stroke are explained by the fact that a power equal to that of a million horses is developed for an infinitesmal space of time. This explains the riven tree, the melted metal found on the persons of people who have been killed by an electric stroke and many other marvelous phenomena connected with lightning.

We were in a locality in the west recently where 12 per cent was the ruling rate of interest for money and the security as good land as the sun ever shone upon. It would seem as though the great surplus of money seeking investment in the central and eastern states would relieve this condition, though for some reason capital has always been shy of the new countries.

The steel windmill, both wheel and tower made of steel, is an efficient lightning rod only as the tower legs have a proper earth connection. If fastened to timber anchor posts, as is usually done, the mill becomes, instead of a protection, a source of positive danger. This may be obviated by connecting a half inch iron rod to the legs of the tower and placing it in contact with earth, which is always moist.

We noted a man giving a 20 acre field of corn an extra plowing the other day. The corn was almost as high as his shoulders, and he was doing the plowing with a single horse and light plow. Inasmuch as the field was clean and had been well tended, was he doing any good? We are of the opinion that he was, and, in view of the drought which prevailed at the time, he was probably making $4 or $5 a day while at work, if not more.

There is a brief time during the month of July when adult wild fowls—geese and swans particularly—shed their wing feathers and are thus unable to fly. Years ago when hunting for Sioux Indians in the breeding grounds of these birds in North Dakota we captured scores of adult birds during the summer's molting period, and the male swans put up an ugly fight in their effort to escape.

There are a few men in every community who always view a crop failure with sincere delight, and these are the men who hoard their grain crops year after year so that they may take advantage of other people's misfortunes. We know of three or four old fellows with four or five years' crops of corn on hand who fairly gloat over the heat and sirocons of July which withered the promising fields of the west and sent the price of corn a-kiting on the boards of trade.

No more beautiful sight in growing cereal crops can be found anywhere than the vast wheatfields of the North Dakota country, the home of the famous No. 1 hard wheat. Still, this kind of farming has many drawbacks. The work of the entire year is crowded into a space of four months. Rich though the soil is, there must come a time when it will become robbed of its fertility and it will be hard to raise good crops; then the work is nearly all done upon an extensive scale, and this means large farms, a thinly settled community and poor schools and social advantages.

"I have one fixed rule which I never depart from in the management of my farm," said a very successful farmer in Minnesota to us recently, "and that is to sow two quarts of clover seed with every acre of small grain sown each year." Said he, "It makes no difference whether I want to pasture the field, cut it for hay or plow the clover crop under, I want to see clover coming up through every stubble field I have on the farm." This man was everlastingly right and laid down a rule which, if followed, would soon put other farms than his in the very highest state of fertility and productiveness.

In a certain western county there is a little community of farmers who for years have made a practice of holding neighborhood gatherings once in two weeks in the winter at the home of some member and in summer a picnic affair in the woods, where simple refreshments are served and a regular programme of music and discussion of farm topics are carried through to the very great benefit of that community not only in an agricultural sense, but also in a social way. There may be found well kept farms, good stock, improved highways and a degree of intellectual culture and refinement which is entirely possible as associated with country living.

BUYING LAND WITHOUT SEEING IT.

The Bible refers to a certain man who bought a piece of land without seeing it, and, while the record does not state whether he got beat or not, the chances are that he did. This prompts the remark that about the most foolish thing a man can do is to buy land without seeing it, and lots of men are doing this thing every day now in their eager craze to get hold of land. We would not invest a dollar in any land until we had tested the soil and the subsoil to a depth of at least three feet, till we had ascertained the average rainfall for a series of years in the locality where the land was situated, until we had ascertained the quality and quantity of water accessible by digging or boring, until we knew what sort of crops the climate and soil would produce and the class of people that were to become permanent neighbors.

ORCHARDS IN MINNESOTA.

A reader in Minneapolis wants to know if it is a safe proposition to set out a commercial orchard of apple trees in the vicinity of lake Minnetonka. Assuming that a good location for such orchard is selected, that proper varieties are planted and that the orchard is given the right sort of care and attention, we do not know of a more promising business proposition in the line of horticulture. For instance, the Wealthy apple is perfectly at home there. There should be 120 bearing trees on each acre at the end of six years from planting. Small fruits, beans, potatoes and vines grown among the trees up to that time will give paying crops each year. From the time these trees are 6 or 8 years old such an orchard may be depended upon to bring in an average income for the next 20 years of not less than $100 per acre besides the crop of clover which may be grown among the trees. If a man had from 20 to 40 acres in such orchard so that he could put up his own cold storage plant and hold his crop for the better prices of the spring trade, this income could easily be doubled.

TROLLEY ROADS FOR THE COUNTRY.

We do not go much on prophesying, but we like to think that we see in the near future a vast extension of the country trolley road system into all localities removed so far as ten miles from a steam railway. The east is being gridironed with these roads, and they are being operated at a handsome profit to the owners and to the untold benefit of the communities which they serve. The trolley comes the nearest to being everybody's road of anything yet evolved in the way of transportation. While it is operated on a time schedule, it stops anywhere and accommodates everybody along its route. The conductor becomes a purchasing agent for his patrons and fills their orders and delivers the goods with as much promptness as though the purchasers lived in town. Built of standard gauge track, the freight car picks up the heavier and bulkier farm products, such as stock, grain, etc., and delivers them to the steam road at the city. In a word, the country trolley line, cheaply built and operated, affords every convenience offered by the steam road, with the added advantage that it is infinitely more adaptable to the wants and needs of the community. Wherever capitalists are willing to put their money into such roads the farmers of the community should extend to the road their most hearty and loyal support. The trolley, the telephone and the rural mail route are the three agencies which are destined to regenerate country life and country business.

WIND BREAKS.

There is no one thing of more importance to the man who locates on a prairie farm than the securing of a good, substantial wind break at the earliest opportunity. Wind is all right in its place, filling the sails of a ship, whirling the windmill and drying up the mud, but to have it working its own sweet way in barnyard and round the farm home day in and day out it is an unmitigated nuisance. Such wind breaks can be most quickly obtained by deep plowing—subsoiling would be still better—of an L shaped tract of land bounding the north and west sides of the homestead, containing about three acres and located far enough from all yards and buildings so as to leave ample room for the home grounds, the barns, sheds, garden and orchard; this land so prepared to be set out to the soft wood types of native trees—soft maple, cottonwood, box elder and willow—about 15 feet apart each way and to be well cultivated for three years at least. A five year growth of such trees so cared for will give a very effective wind break. A row or two of Scotch pine planted inside such wind break and not less than 30 feet from it will make it still better. A common mistake in planting such grove is to set the trees too thick, and the result is that as the trees grow they crowd each other, and many of them die out, leaving the grove irregular and patchy. The soft maple will bear planting more thickly than any of the varieties named.

WHERE TO GO FOR A FARM.

We are asked where a young man with a cash capital of $1,000 had better go to get hold of a piece of good cheap land out of which to make a farm. Everything depends upon the particular kind of farming he wishes to engage in. If he is not afraid of plenty of hard work and is willing to work and wait for 15 years, he can work out a good farm from the cheap timber slashes of northern and central Minnesota, being sure to see that he gets a clay or a loam soil and not a sand bed, or he may go on to the range lands of western South or North Dakota and live the life of a recluse for ten years and keep cattle and at the end of that time be in shape to buy a well improved farm in the well settled section farther east; or, if he takes to horticulture, he can go to the coast and in Oregon or Washington and some parts of Idaho raise the best fruit and enjoy the best climate on earth, or he can buy an 80 acre farm in the corn belt and keep cows and raise hogs and have that paid for at the end of 10 or 12 years. There is just as good a show for the right kind of a man and a thousand dollars as there ever has been.

A BIG TREE FARM.

A friend of ours, a young man, has recently purchased a 160 acre tract of the heavily timbered land of Washington for a farm and a home. We shall watch with much interest his effort to reclaim this tract. It would seem to be a herculean task, but he has health and strength, a good market for his timber, a good soil when he gets the land cleared and good markets for his produce near by. He further will enjoy a most genial climate, one where everything in the way of fruit, cereals and grasses will attain their very best development. Still he has many a hard day's work ahead before he gets rid of that swarm of four foot cedar and spruce stumps which, unlike the deciduous woods of the east, show but little disposition to rot.

THE BOY AND THE PRAIRIE CHICKENS.

The country boy is now picking the prairie chickens which have been raised on the farm and justifying his violation of the game law on the ground that if he does not thus get the birds some town dude will bag every last one of them just as soon as the open season is on. For a fact, this presents a rather complex moral proposition, with our sympathy, in spite of the ethics involved, on the side of the boy.

GUMMING OF STAMPS

HOW THIS WORK IS CARRIED ON IN WASHINGTON.

It Has Been Brought Down to an Exact Science In the Bureau of Engraving and Printing—Complicated Machinery Is Used.

Just as you see your car coming you happen to think of that unstamped letter you have been carrying around in your pocket for a week, and you sprint into a drug store, buy a stamp and try to lick it on as you rush out. It doesn't stick, however, has not been properly gummed, and as your car goes by you stand on the corner using words not found in Webster's and threatening to go down to Washington and punch somebody's head.

This, of course, is not a common occurrence, but it sometimes happens, and when it does you mustn't be too hard on the government. If there is one thing above another that the United States has tried to bring down to an exact science, it is the gumming of adhesive stamps.

Uncle Sam's postage stamps are made at the bureau of engraving and printing in Washington, and the process of gumming them is carried on in a well lighted room, 80 by 50 feet, made especially for this purpose. The stamps, after being printed, reach this room in sheets of 400 each. Women operators feed the sheets on an endless chain belt that passes under a glass gumming roller automatically coated with the exact proportion of mucilage to be received by the sheet. The endless chain belt then carries them into a covered drying box 50 feet long containing coils of steam pipes. They emerge from the other end after a journey of about one minute perfectly dry and all ready to be counted, tested and packed for shipment.

A most interesting part of this work are the precautions taken to insure uniformity in the gumming. When the workmen report for duty in the morning, they receive a series of blanks, which must be filled out during the day as the work progresses. A careful account of every ounce of gum and of every sheet of stamps given to them is kept. As scientific calculations and exhaustive experiments have determined that it takes exactly 26 pounds of liquid gum to cover 1,000 sheets of stamps, these are given the workman at a time, and it is an impossibility to neglect any sheet or dispose of the gum except to spread it with absolute uniformity.

The little vats which hang over the rollers contain delicate instruments, and a graduating scale indicates at any moment just how much gum has been used. To tell if each sheet is receiving its exact proportion of gum the foreman has only to compare the figures on the graduating scale with the strict record kept of the number of sheets gummed.

STAMPS READY FOR GUMMING.
[National bureau of printing and engraving.]

Mr. Fred J. Crocker is the expert head in charge of this division of the bureau of engraving and printing and has a scientific knowledge of this work that requires such accuracy in preparing stamps for the public. He has made a special study of handling gum for eight years and is one of the best known experts in this line in the United States.

The greatest problem to the operators in the gumming room is the moisture in the atmosphere. It is necessary to keep the room at a temperature of 80 degrees. The temperature and humidity are taken every hour and recorded on a blackboard made for that purpose.

Experiments have shown that the Mississippi valley is the worst part of the United States to furnish with stamps owing to the humidity prevailing there at all seasons. Stamps that will give satisfaction there are suitable for any part of the country.

The gum used on Uncle Sam's postage stamps is purely vegetable, and the stamp licker need not have the slightest hesitancy in applying his moistened tongue to it. The gum is derived from dextrin, a product secured in the process of making starch, and samples sent in are subjected to many tests. The qualities which the government seeks for in the gum are adhesiveness, luster, absence of grit, flexibility, resistance to humidity and color.

Increasing Its Spaciousness.

"Here's another letter from that new tenant," said the secretary.

"What's he want now?" inquired the proprietor of the Highuppe apartment house.

"Says he's got to have more room in his flat. Says it'll help some if you'll let him scrape the paper off the walls."

The Indian and the Northwest.

PICNICS GALORE.

And all Were Blessed With Copious Showers.

THE FORESTERS AT GREENVILLE.

Peter Smith Delivers the Address at the Molders' Picnic at Meyer's Lake—The Plumbers Take Their Outing—Stationary Engineers Picnic on Sunday.

Al though the attendance at the third grand annual event of Court Pride, Foresters of America, of East Greenville, held in A. L. Young's grove at the latter place, on Saturday, ran into the thousands, indications are that many more would have been there had it not been for the inclemency of the weather. The affair was a grand success, however, and ranks well with all former similar entertainments. Showers compelled the postponement of several of the events advertised, although the committee in charge made every exertion to have all come off. William Morgan was the president of the day. The programme opened with the grand parade from the court room to the picnic grounds at 10 o'clock.

The speakers of the day were the Hon John P. Jones, of North Lawrence, the Hon. J. J. Wise, of Massillon, and the Hon. R. A. Pollock of North Lawrence. All made excellent addresses. The speeches were made in the grove and began at 12 o'clock. The results of the various athletic events which came off despite showers, follow:

Shooting match, open to all—Chas. Elsinger, Youngstown Hill, first; Robert Legg, North Lawrence, second; Click, of Elton, third. Prize, $10.

Handicap quoit match—Robert Legg, of North Lawrence, first; G. Robertson, second. Prize, $5.

One hundred yard amateur foot race—J. Mornin, first; George Oglethorpe, second; William Jones, third. Time claimed to be 11 seconds. Prizes, $3, $2 and $1, respectively.

Bicycle road race over four mile course—L. Crichton, first; William Collier, second, and James Boyd, third. Prizes to the value of $10 in merchandise.

The Ideal Club orchestra of North Lawrence furnished music for the dancing which was in order during the day and evening. Thomas Lewis and Miss Mary Evans, of East Greenville were awarded a silver cup for being the best waltzers on the floor.

The East Greenville band was on duty during the day, and its enlivening airs was one of the enjoyable features of the occasion.

The base ball game between the East Greenville team and the Buckeys of Massillon in the afternoon, was a very exciting event. The Greenville boys were victorious, the score standing 7 to 3.

MOLDERS AT LAKE.

The annual picnic of the Iron Molders' Union at Meyer's lake on Saturday, also had its dampening influences, but was nevertheless an occasion to be remembered. The molders of Massillon, their families, and the friends that accompanied them numbered about four hundred, seven hundred or more were present from Alliance and Salem, while Canton sent forth over a thousand. The children were given free merry-go-round and steamer rides in the morning, a concert was rendered by Thayer's band, of Canton, some sports were carried on, and dancing began in the afternoon. The event of the day was the address of Peter Smith, president of the Massillon Trades and Labor Assembly, and a member of the Iron Molders' union, who had been chosen as the speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Smith was introduced by Albert Blinn, secretary of the general committee chosen by the unions of Massillon, Canton, Alliance and Salem. He spoke of the benefits to be derived from a membership in the union and traced its history from its infancy to the present time. He was heartily applauded. The day's programme closed with a balloon ascension.

PLUMBERS' OUTING.

The Plumbers' unions of Massillon and Canton took their first annual outing at the lake on Saturday. Massillonians were unfortunate in the programme of sports which had been arranged for the day, and most of the honors went to the east end. The girls' foot race was won by Miss Musser, of Massillon, and Fred Justus took second in the journeyman Plumbers and bookkeepers' fifty yard dash. The base ball game between Massillon and Canton resulted in a disastrous defeat for the former, the score standing in the neighborhood of 24 to 11. Musser and Justus, and Bayliss and Bullock were the battery for the Massillon team.

STATIONARY ENGINEERS.

The first picnic of Massillon branch 14, Home Association of Stationary Engineers, which was held in Maxheimer's grove, near the Pocock mine west of the city, on Sunday, happened to fall upon the first anniversary of the organization of the Massillon branch. About a hundred were present from this city. Street cars were resorted to to the western corporation limits where hay wagons awaited the picnickers. Happy and appropriate addresses were made by Mayor Wise, the Rev. N E. Moffit, Peter Heinbuch and William Lewis, president of the Massillon lodge. Recitations were also delivered by Miss Corinne Snyder and by Mrs. Peter Heinbuch.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

A Memorable Occasion for Mr. and Mrs. John Stahl.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stahl celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home in West Main street, on Saturday. Guests were present to the number of seventy-five from this city Canton, Navarre, Beach City and Sugar Creek. A bounteous dinner was served on the lawn, showers, however, compelling the carrying out of the balance of the programme within doors. A portion of this consisted of selections by the ladies' choir of St. John's church, which completely surprised the bride and groom of fifty years, by appearing unexpectedly upon the scene with its organist, Miss Edna Smith. In the absence of the Rev. J. E Digel from the city, Mrs. Digel made an appropriate address. Mrs. Digel also made the presentation address accompaniyng the presents from the children to Mr. and Mrs. Stahl. The former received a massive gold headed cane, and the latter a gold headed umbrella, each having an appropriate engarved sentiment. The Ladies' Aid Society of St. John's church on Thursday presented each with rocking chairs. The presents were numerous and valuable.

Mr. and Mrs. Stahl were married on August 17, 1851, by the Rev. Carl Steiner, the attendants being L. J. Geis and Miss Rosana Reicherd, now Mrs. J. Gretzinger, of Navarre, the latter being present at Saturday's celebration. Mrs. Stahl s maiden name was Miss Caroline Strauss. Mr. and Mrs. Stahl immigrated to this country in their youth and settled near Navarre, at which place the former for many years conducted a meat market.

Later they moved to a farm northeast of Navarre, where they resided for 27 years, until 1893, when they retired, and moved to their present home in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Stahl have reached the ripe old ages of 75 and 71 years respectively. They are the parents of three children, Mrs. D. H. Dinius, of Canton, Mrs. J. Noftsinger, of near Navarre, and A F. Stahl, of this city; the grandparents of fourteen and the great grandparents of one.

Mr. and Mrs. Stahl desire to extend their heartfelt thanks to all their friends for the good wishes and honors bestowed upon them on this occasion.

INSPECTING HIS FARM.

President McKinley Spent Saturday at Minerva.

A special to the Clevleand Leader says President McKinley spent Saturday at his farm, near Minerva, inspecting the property and taking a substantial country dinner with farmer Jack Adams, his tenant. It was the first time he had visited the farm since he became President and the first meal he has eaten there in seven years.

The trip was made in the private car of Colonel Herick, chairman of the board of directors of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, who, with his wife, and son Parmlee, are guests at the McKinley home for several days. The party was composed of the President, Secretary Cortelyou, Colonel Herrick, Parmlee Herrick, and Dr. Rixey. Farmer Adams had two substantial country surreys at the station to meet the party and when the farm was reached a thorough inspection was made. A drive was taken around the fields, the crops discussed, the barn and sheep stable visited, and the live stock paraded through the barnyard for review. Three of the President's horses are there and are apparently improving under Adams' care. He is to be allowed to keep the sorrel until next spring in the hope of developing him into a good roadster.

The visit was a surprise to the little town of Minerva, and no reception could be prepared, but while the party were at the farm flags and bunting were hauled out for decorations and a big crowd gathered at the station for an informal demonstration.

The McKinley farm is one of the best in an especially fine farming community. Jack Adams has managed it nearly twenty years. Its products are varied and Adams boasts of greater quantity per acre and better quality than any other farm in the county. Special attention is devoted to sheep and horses and more ground is put to potatoes than to wheat. Last year's potato crop of over two thousand bushels brought fancy prices. One Maryland commission merchant obtained the whole crop at five cents a bushel above the highest market price.

HE DROVE TOO FAST

R. Weise Arrested Saturday Afternoon.

BUTLER CASE IS DISMISSED.

Fred Paul Arrested on Sunday, Dismissed by the Mayor This Morning—C. Lucius Run Over by a Carriage on Saturday Evening, and the Mayor Investigates.

R. Weise, who lives north of the city, indulged in a little liquor, a little bidding at the Groff horse sale in North street, and a little fast driving, all on Saturday afternoon. It was the latter that got him into trouble. Officer Ertle who took him into custody, placed a charge of reckless driving opposite his name on the police court blotter, and although Weise solemnly assured the officers that his duties as the head of a household demanded his presence at home on Sunday, he spent the day languishing in the bastile. Mayor Wise on Monday morning fined him $2 and costs.

NOT ENOUGH EVIDENCE.

The case of Mrs. Rosa Ann Butler, of Warmintgon, charged with using unbecoming language in the presence of Mrs. Crawford, was dismissed by Squire Sibila after the hearing on Saturday night. The court judged the evidence offered insufficient. R. A. Pinn appeared for the defendant, and A. N. Kaley represented the prosecuting witness.

WILL DO BETTER.

Fred Paul, arrested by Officer Wittmann on Sunday morning, on complaint of members of the family, who said that he was acting unruly, was very penitent on appearing before Mayor Wise on Monday morning. The mayor dismissed him on his promise that he would walk more circumspectly in the future.

DROPPED THE MATTER.

Mayor Wise after a thorough investigation has ordered the discharge of Charles Baumgardner and William Jones, who reside near Newman, and who were detained on Saturday night, after having run over Christ Lucius with their buggy. Mr. Lucius concurred with the mayor in his decision, having convinced himself that the young men had not acted maliciously or carelessly. Mr. Lucius was standing at the West Main street crossing of the C., L. & W. where the Rearick horse had just been killed, and Messrs. Baumgardner and Jones were driving slowly by. Although stories differ, it seems that the horse either shied at the dead body, or Mr. Lucius made an inadvertent step backwards directly in front of the carriage. The buggy passed Mr Lucius's left wrist bruising it slightly.

DASHED AGAINST TRAIN.

Instant Death the Fate of J. Rearick's Horse.

A heavy draught horse, the property of James Rearick, of Strasburg, and valued at $125, tried conclusions with a north bound C., L. & W. freight train, at about 8 o'clock on Saturday evening, and met instant death. The horse, hitched to a buggy, was driven to the city on Saturday evening, by Adam Rigby and two companions from Stanwood, where the latter are working on a grade, on which the horse was also used. Rigby stated that he had tied the horse in the alley west of the C., L. & W. depot, near Water street, and had started to attend to business matters which had brought him to the city. The coming of the train evidently frightened the animal, which tore loose from its hitching place and dashed down West Main street, then blocked by the moving train. It struck the side of a coal car squarely, the shock breaking both neck and right shoulder, and throwing the body back from the tracks. The buggy was but slightly injured.

S. A. Morgan, watchman at the tower at the crossing, was among those who witnessed the accident. Mr. Morgan states that the gates were lowered for the passing of the train, but that the animal dashed through the opening in the center. Mr. Morgan immediately raised the gates and descended to the scene of the accident, thinking that the buggy had occupants, and that the latter had been thrown under the wheels of the train. The vehicle to which the animal had been hitched was taken to Stanwood on Sunday afternoon.

STEAMPHIPS TIED UP.

More Than Fifty Vessels in San Francisco Habor.

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Twenty-nine deep water ships, all chartered to carry grain out of this port for European markets are tied up in the harbor, unable to take on their cargoes because of the strike. These vessels aggregate 54,746 registered tons displacemeont, and have a carrying capacity of about 100,000 tons of grain. Besides this fleet of chartered grain ships there are four other grain carrying vessels in the harbor with an aggregate tonnage of 8,429 tons, which have not accepted charters. Four other vessels are chartered to carry away cargoes of California products, but cannot get away for want of men to load them. In addition to the grain fleet, there are fifteen vessels under charter to sail for Hawaiian Island ports and return with sugar cargoes.

AMERICAN MEAT IN LONDON.

British and Irish Farmers Enter a Protest.

London, Aug. 19.—There has been a recurrence of agitation on the part of the Irish and British farmers against what they term the practical monopoly of the London meat market by Americans, and the Board of Agriculture has promised to inquire into the matter. The agitators assert that the American importers of cattle have so influenced a corporation in London which controls the markets that they absolutely control the trade and rule prices to the practical exculsion of home farmers.

DEAD AND DYING.

They Fell on all Sides About Dulabahn.

YET HE ESCAPES UNSCATHED.

Corporal Dulabahn Tells How His Company Was Ambushed by Filippinos in the Mountains—A Toledo Man Killed and Many Others Iniured—Large Quantities Stores Captured.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dulabahn, of 38 William street, are in receipt of two letters from their son, Corporal Henry Dulabahn, of the United States army in the Philippines. Both were received on the same day, although one was written on June 19 and the other on June 28. In the first letter Corporal Dulabhan tells of some active campaigning, and the letter follows in part:

"We have just got back from a six days' march and fight. We left here on the twelfth of the month for the insurgent stronghold, about fifty miles in the interior of the island. On the thirteenth, we ran into an ambush and had fighting for an hour before we chased the niggers out. We captured one shot gun, a bolo, and thirty rounds of cartridges for a two pound gun. We had no one killed or wounded, and, as the niggers carried off their killed, we don't know how many we killed.

"On the afternoon of the fourteenth, we ran on their forts. Here we fought for three and one-half hours. We killed about fifty niggers, but they carried off their wounded. We had none hit. We captured twelve cannon, thirty-five bolos, about three tons of powder, and a lot of cartridges. We started back on the fifteenth, and were going through a cut in the mountains, when they opened fire upon us from all sides. They were about twenty yards away, but we could not get up to them, as the walls were straight up and down.

Their first volley killed Earnest Krause, of our company, a bullet hitting him in the spinal column, breaking it, and coming out through his stomach. He lived about an hour. Corporal Peters, of Company I, had a bullet through his ear. Corporal Dodge was struck in the back, but the bullet struck a bone and glanced off. A member of Company M was hit in the neck, but he will recover. Another in Company K was hit in the leg. Two ponies were instantly killed and a government mule was shot through the neck.

"I tell you it was the warmest time I ever had. The bullets struck so close that the dirt was thrown in my face, and several times I thought that my time had come. Krause, who was killed, lived in Toledo, O. He was the only support of an aged mother, and while he was dying he kept repeating, 'What will my mother do?' We are going to take up a collection for her. Well, mother, I have nine months and nine more days yet. That won't be long. We have moved again. This town is on the same island and is a pretty place, but water is scarce. Bonk is well. I must close, hoping to hear from you soon,

Your Son,

CORP. HENRY K. DULABAHN,
Co. I, U. S. Infantry,
Tagbilaran, Bohol, P. I.

The letter of June 28 was a brief one. Corporal Dulabahn's company was again preparing for service, there having been a big fight the night before.

OSTEOPATHY.

Osteopathy is that science of healing which emphasizes the diagnosis of disease by physical methods with the view to discovering, not the symptoms, but the causes of disease, and treat the same by manipulation, the purpose and result of which is to restore the normal condition of nerve control and blood supply to every organ in the body by removing physical obstructions, or by inhibiting or stimulating functional activity, as the case may require. 80 per cent of the so-called incurable diseases abandoned by other systems are cured by Osteopathy, and all are benefited.

A JUDGE'S SENSATION

Accused Attorneys For Arbuckles of Trying to Bribe Him.

WOULD NAME EMISSARIES,

If Necessary—One of the Attorneys For the Arbuckles, Said an Offer Was Made to Them to Secure a Verdict For Defendant.

Toledo, Aug. 21.—There were some sensational developments in the case in which State Pure Food Commissioner Blackburn recently secured a verdict of guilty against A. D. White, a local grocer charged with selling a glazed coffee manufactured by the Arbuckles. The attorneys for the Arbuckles went before Judge Meck, in the city courts, before whom the case was tried, and requested him to make the docket entry so as to get the case into the higher courts. Judge Meck declined to do so until Walter Brown, attorney for the state, was present.

A heated discussion ensued, in which the attorneys for the Arbuckles charged that Walter Brown, attorney for the state, ruled the judge. Then the latter sprung a sensation by charging that the attorneys for the Arbuckles had sent three men to him offering $1,000 to let them have the jury, and that when he refused to do this they sent emissaries with the offer of $1,000 to take the case from the jury. The judge says if necessary he will make public the names of the men who made him the proposition. In answer to this charge Clarence Brown, one of the attorneys for the Arbuckles, gave out the following statement:

"I will say that an offer was made to us to secure a verdict for defendant in the coffee case for a consideration, and the price was named. We don't say it was done by Meck's authority, for we don't know. But the offer was made, and the price was named at which we could obtain a verdict, but we did not care to get one that way."

The case probably will be investigated. It is charged that the Woolsons are back of the state's prosecution of this case. The court made the entry after mandamus proceedings had been threatened.
